An Angel in the Way.

Fair the downward path is spread, Love and light th, coming greet,
Fruit is blushing o'er thy head,
Flowers are growing 'neath thy feet,
Mirth and sin, with tossing hands,
Wave thee on, a willing prey;
Yet an instant pause—there stands
An Angel in the way.

Heed the heavenly warning-know Fairest flowers thy feet may trip; Fruit, that like the sunset glow, Turns to ashes on the lip;
Though the joys be wild and free,
Though the path be bright and gay,
Even mortal eye can see—
An Angel in the way.

Convicts and Paupers.

Mr. Adams has made a movement in the Senate of the United States, on the subject of naturalization laws, and the foreign convicts and paupers who are constantly being transported to this country, which we shall be glad to see succeed in that body though it may be vetoed by the President. He proposes to so change the naturalization laws as to require a residence of twenty-one years before becoming a citizen of this Country, and to prohibit any foreigner from emigrating to the United States unless he shall produce the certificate of the American consulat the port from whence he sails, that he is not a pauper and has monarch of Babylon, covered with one of those

It will be impossible for political demagogues, to prevent a result upon which the hearts of a large majority of the American people are resolved. The practice has prevailed must be checked, and foreign interference and impertinence be put an end to. If the despots of Europe were to combine to subvert our government, they could not fix upon a safer plan than that which has been practiced for years past—that of sending their restless and worthless population to this country. Already have they reduced the moral standard of the nation.
